

MRS. FRED H. INGALLS. Who is making an extended trip abroad with Mr. Ingalls.

Fummer arrangements are coming on ! With this sudden -:rival of tropic weather such as has continued for the last ten days, it really became a necessity to think of getting out of town early, and the past few days one hears nothing but sailing dates: "Yes, we leave the first of the month. Be sure to look us up in Paris"; "Shall you be at Biddeford this summer as usual?" now arrivals in the Jamestown colony; and plans for Harbor Point and the North,

European travel will be about as usual. So many people went last summer, among the ones who seldom allow themselves more than a trip once every five years or so, that I fancied we might count on fewer so, that I hanced we might count on rewer sallings than before; but that is a mistake.

Mrs. William H. Thornburgh will sall on June 7, taking her children and going directly to London to join Mrs. Northrop McMillan. They have several summer jaunts planned, including a trip to the Swiss lakes. The Otto Mersmans will sail on the Fourth of July, and the John Fow-lers on the July 12. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler have delayed their departure in order to see Miso Elise Kilpatrick, who is their nlece, graduate from Mary Institute the middle of June. Usually they are well away before July.

The William C. Littles are also to go to Europe, but not until late in the summer.

Mrs. Little will spend a period at Biddeford Ella Cochran are just sulling for Germany and will be joined in June by Mr. Cochran. Charles Ward Rhodes will have a fine sum mer trip, with much sea air about it. He planned to go to Europe, but changed his mind after engaging passage; and instead expects to sail from Galveston on one of the coast steamers round to New York, stopping at Key West; take a fortnight's trip in the Adirondacks; then return to New York and go by steamer up to Hall-fax, Nova Scotia and back again; return-ing home by rail. This will give him at least five weeks on shipboard, which quite a bit more than even the slowest At-lantic boats would allow.

The Halsey C. Ives are pleasantly settled for the summer at their country home near Clayton, and do not expect to leave that vicinity during the warm weather. Mrs. Lucy V. Semple Ames and her son, Henry Ames, went to Seattle and the Pacific Coast for a long trip a few days ago. They will spend the summer in the West, and will not open their river home "Notch Cliff" until late in August.

The John Schroers family will remain a home until June is over and a part of July, in order to fittingly entertain their young son Carl Klemm, and his West Point class son Carl Klemm, and his West Point class-mates, who will take a month or more to enjoy their first furlough. Mrs. Schroers usually finds Rye Beach quite to her lik-lar, and will go down there the middle of August for awhile, with the Schroers twins and Miss Klemm. At present they are all rusticating for a fortnight in the country round about St. Charler.

round about St. Charles.

The William Chappells, George P. Joneses and Oliver Garrisons are to summer this year at Harbor Point, going North late in June. Mr. Horace Rumsey will naturally be of this party, with his fancee, Miss Louise Chappell. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crouch and their two daughters are to summer in Europe, sailing in June. They have planned an extensive trip, including the Switzerland resorts and the coast of France. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Drummond will spend the summer, as usual, at their Bar Harbor cottage, entertaining a large number of friends. They have the entire summer mapped out for guests and, with Bar Harbor for a starting point, expect to make frequent cruises on their yaght, the White Heather. Mr. Drummond is already in New Heather. Mr. Drummond is already in New York getting the yacht into shipshape, and Mrs. Drummond and her children will go to Boston and to Maine on Thursday of this week.

Colonel and Mrs. James L. Ford will depart early next month part early next month for Massachusetts, where their son, James L. Ford, Jr., is to be graduated from Andover. Later, with Miss Elsie Ford, they will visit several of the resorts. Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ingalls are already on the sea, and expect to go directly to Naples, with the early part of June spent in Rome, Florence, Venice and Milan.

Mrs. Cliff Richardson has been visiting in St. Louis for the last fortnight and is being extensively entertained by her old friends, some of whom she sees an-ually at Biddeford Pool, but most of whom have not enjoyed a visit from her for two years. Mrs. Richardson now considers Eiddeford her permanent home and enjoys her beautiful villa there to the utmost.

Dinners for her were given last week by Doctor and Mrs. Bryson, Judge and Mrs. Franklin Ferriss at the St. Louis Club, Mr. and Mrs. John Fewier and Mr. and Mrs. William C. Little. There were also several luncheons in her honor, among them being one by Mrs. Thomas Niedringhaus, for six-teen covers; another by Mrs. Dwight Filley.

Three Weiglings of considerable social import will take place next fail, all at St. John's Methodist Church. They are that of Miss Mary Kennard and Harry Brookings Wallace, Miss May Dillon and Ray Carter, and Miss Emily Westwood and Joseph Lewis.

Mrs. George W. Allen and Miss Frances Allen of Westmoreland place departed last week for Rye Beach, where they will spend several months. Mr. Allen and his son expect to follow them in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lucas are still at their Pine street home, but will go son out to Normandy to their country paice. which is now being put into condition for the summer.

Mrs. M. P. Morrell gave one of the last, but nevertheless pleasant, card parties of the season on Friday afternoon, entertain-ing three card clubs, of which she has been a faithful member for several of the cardplaying months. The clubs played in rooms fragrant with masses of white syringas, that sweet, old-fashioned flower seldom seen in cities and only obtainable from some country garden. These flowers were combined with much delicate green. A cool and allogether delightful effect, was oband altogether delightful effect was obtained in the dining room, where electric lights were dropped into cut glass vases filled with colored waters and surrounded with ferns and syringas. The ices and re-freshments were all in white and green, Mrs. Morrell asked several young women to assist her during the afternoon-Miss Crouch, Miss Matilde Anderson, Miss Loader, Miss Julia Farrish, the Misses Hud-son and Miss Ethel Niederlander.

Mrs. John Hays Hammond, who was pre sented to his Majesjty, King Edward, a short time ago, wore for her presentation gown a dress of apple green satin, beautifully embroidered in large pearls and emer-alds. Mrs. J. W. Mackay, who was pre-sented at the same time as Mrs. Hammond,

The great popularity of the Pianola in Summer Homes is a pertinent illustration of its practical value. In these retreats away from musical entertainment the Pianola provides the pleasure of hearing any composition one's mood may call for at any time, with the added pleasure of producing the music one's self. Symphonies, overtures or ragtime favorites may be summoned at will. Dance music is always avail-

The Pignola is an inexhaustible source of entertainment and an invaluable ally to the hostess, for it always knows how to play.

The Pianola is an instrument by means of which Any One can play the Piano. It is increasing the repertoire of amateur and professional pianists by making the entire literature of the piano instantly available without study and without practice. The Pianola looks like a small cabinet. It has small, felt-covered fingers that rest on the keys of the plano and, operated by pneumatic power, strike the keys with a pliant, yielding and remarkably sympathetic touch that is almost identical with that of the human fingers. When not in use the Pianola may be easily rolled away from the plano and moved to another part of the room.
